Monday's Graduation Is First Since "Freeze"

Automat A La Freeman—No, that title doesn't mean that you can order the Clubmobile served up broiled in wine sauce, it's just whimsy on the part of our art editor in trying to explain how the serving capacity of the unit was increased by the recent installation of outside faucets. Operated by the local branch of the NAAFW, the wagon now serves upwards of 35,000 cups of coffee a week. A new coat of paint was added this week and drip trays under each spigot are to be installed.

Furlough Trek Time Granted In New Policy

Morale went soaring to an all time high Wednesday afternoon when it was announced from post headquarters that, beginning December 1, travel time to and from a given point would be granted on all furloughs.

Under the new policy, either two ten day furloughs, with six months intervening, or one twenty day furlough will be given in the enlistment year. In both cases travel time, computed on the actual time needed to arrive at a destination, rather than distance, will be given. For instance, if a man has to travel between Freeman Field and a point where he would have a four hour lay-over waiting for train connections, that time would be added into the total amount of travel time.

Many men, who had taken advantage of the fifteen day furlough with travel time under the discarded policy, were overjoyed to learn that they became eligible for five days plus travel if six months had elapsed since their last leave.

Eligibility for a furlough will be based on the induction or enlistment date of an individual, with twenty days a year the maximum amount of time allowable.

"A Stitch in Time"

Free sewing service is offered to all at the Service Club every Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 to 5 p. m.

If you have clothing that is ripped, torn or might need patches or stripes sewn on, bring it over Wednesday and call for it the same day.

Five women of the Seymour Red Cross are offering this service free. They only ask one thing—bring only clean clothing.

Part Of Class Will Get Wings At Texas Base

Freeman's first class of aviation cadets to be graduated since a five week extension was placed on the flying training program on October 16, will receive their wings and appointments as flight officers or commissions as second lieutenants in dual graduation exercises on Monday. The exercises

Non-Coms To Vote Wednesday Night

A meeting to nominate men to fill the offices of president and vice president for the term beginning January 1 will be held at the NCO club Wednesday night. Starting at 8, the club house will be open to members only.

Free beer is promised to those members who attend the meeting and T/Sgt. Frank J. Masterson, president, has indicated that, as chairman, he will endeavor to keep "campaign" speeches down to an absolute minimum.

Heading the organization for the past two terms, Masterson will seek re-election as will the incumbent vice president, S/Sgt. Norman J. Feidler.

Nominations will be made from the floor and will be carried into the minutes by an open vote of the members present. Elections will take place the last week in December and those chosen will be inaugurated on January 1.

After the nominations are completed Wednesday night, the club will be open to members and their guests.

PX Officer Sees Acute Gift Shortage, Urges Shop Now for Christmas Season

"If you don't do your Christmas shopping early you'll be out of luck," warned Lt. Leland G. Jackson this week as he explained that all items now on sale at the post exchange could not be reordered before the holiday season.

Christmas buying this year is expected to reach an all-time high, he went on to declare, and because of that many large manufacturing and wholesale concerns sold out their entire stock as early as the end of August.

Post exchanges have had a choice of many lines, but a large percentage of the items purchased are expected to be out of stock in less than thirty days.

Attractively displayed at the post exchange at the present time are several counters and shelves of toys, dolls and games. "We have everything on display, nothing in the warehouse," cautioned Lt. Jackson, "so if you see anything that would make a gift for the kids, get it now."

Other counters display jewelry, watches, rings, pearls and identification bracelets of all types. New items also on display include musical powder and jewel boxes, attractive lucite picture frames, decanter and glass sets, dresser sets perfumes and a number of gift package bath salt sets.

"About the only thing we can't sell," he concluded, "is cartons of cigarettes. We'll have to continue to limit sales to two packs a day for military personnel and one to civilian employees."

War Fund Returns Show $4,730 Total

Reaching a peak of $4,730.12, Freeman Field's contributions to the 1944 War Fund drive were turned over to the treasurer of the Jackson county committee, Mr. E. M. Ross by Lt. Col. William N. Cox, late this week.

Although the figure was less than $70 short of the quota set in the latter part of October, War Fund Drive officials both on the field and those of civilian county committees expressed their sincerest thanks to all who had donated so generously.

Largest slice of the contributions came from the cadets and enlisted men. Their combined totals were $2,414.05 for the drive which lasted two weeks. Officers followed with donations of $1-

Evans To Organize Boy Scout Troop

A Boy Scout Troop for boys of military and civilian personnel is now being formed by Pvt. Robert C. Evans of Section C-0. He is a chartered scoutmaster of the Boy Scouts of America.

Pvt. Evans organized the first troop at an air force installation at Stuttgart, Ark., in March 1943 and had created a strong active group of twenty members before transferring to Freeman Field.

Evans is now anxious to repeat at Freeman Field and has issued a call for all boys eleven years or older to attend the meetings held at the Ridgeview administration building each Tuesday night from 7 to 9 p. m.

A cub scout troop for boys under eleven years of age is also being formed. Further particulars on either of the groups may be obtained by contacting either Capt. William Hale at extension 203 or by calling the Public Relations office at 135.

Chaplain Attends Two Week Course In Texas

Chaplain Phillips B. Henderson left Tuesday to attend a special two weeks transition school for air chaplains at San Antonio, Texas.

The school consists mainly of discussion sessions led by a group of chaplains who have served overseas. Informal classes are being conducted in order to aid air chaplains in the efficiency and effectiveness of their work.

164.75. It was believed that this figure represented a higher pro rata donation among the officers than was established in the 1943 drive. Civilian employees were credited with $1,151.32, falling short of their goal by $49.

Outstanding donations in the civilian departments were made by the post exchange and post headquarters employees with $96 chalked up for each department.

Men of Section C, commanded by Major Roger C. Carroll, took high honors in the drive with a total of $779.85 for their share of contributions.

Committee Named For Field Birthday Dance

A committee of six officers and one enlisted man was appointed this week by Col. E. T. Rundquist to formulate plans for a program to observe the anniversary of the activation of Freeman Field on December 1.

Last year a dance was held in a hangar on the flight line to which all officers, cadets, enlisted men or women and civilian employees were invited.

Full particulars of the committee's plans will be announced in next week's issue.

THE CHAPLAIN CHATS

By CHAPLAIN McGUIRE

The question is often asked of a chaplain "Whom does the chaplain go to with his gripes?" My own answer to that has always been "Why, to the other chaplain, of course." But, for once I am going to violate the rule, because I have a good "gripe" which I feel must be presented to everyone on the field since the solution rests with everyone.

Chaplain McGuire

Personally I'm getting tired of hearing people say "Army life changes your viewpoint." In other words, my "gripe" is that too many people are offering "Army life" as an excuse for every error they commit. A man or woman in the army begins to stay away from church, even though they were fairly faithful in civilian life, and immediately blames their negligence on the Army. Instead of being honest with themselves and admitting that they have been influenced a great deal, and stupidly so, by the few indifferent and evil companions around them, they blame it on the Army system. Instead of being themselves an influence for good, they allow themselves to be influenced for evil.

Some GI or Officer begins to lament about the severity or the monotony of Army life and feels that a "good bender" will help a lot—and, weakling that he is, justifies himself on the grounds that he needs relief from the strain and trials of this life!

Again there is the fellow who remarks "My wife understands that I can't sit around playing checkers forever, and all I ask of her is that she's careful of whom she goes with." So, regardless of the fact that he is married, and perhaps the father of a family, he begins to date some girl until it's too late to retrace his steps. Then by the way of justification, he shakes his head and curses this "Army life" which has brought him such misery and sadness.

I could go on to mention several other attitudes and excuses that have been offered, but you know them as well as I. The point I'd like to bring out is this—if you've slipped into erroneous ways of thinking and acting, the blame should be placed on yourselves.

It's about time that everyone of us began to get God's slant on our problems like suffering, swearing, prayer, purity, church attendance, drinking, dying and all the rest. Most of us suffer from not having an integrally God-like mind. We have flashes of attitudes that are really pagan. We're influenced by the paper, magazines and novels that we read; we're influenced by the movies and shows that we see; we're influenced by the radio programs and conversations that we hear.

Band Begins New Concert Program

Officers and enlisted personnel, as well as civilian employees are to become musically conscious, if the members of the 705th Band have anything to say about it.

Starting this week on a tour of concerts around the field, the bandsmen will be on the "go" six days a week. They will play half hour noonday concerts at each of the field's six mess halls.

On Monday afternoons they will serenade patients at the station hospital in an outdoor concert, and will supply appropriate music at all major sports events.

Wednesday will be concert night at the post theater with the musicians playing a half hour concert before the first show. The box office will open a half hour earlier, 6 o'clock, on Wednesday nights.

44 I Graduation

Exercises at Harlingen will be conducted by Major Norman R. Wood and Lt. Louis Rosenthal, who flew down yesterday morning to arrange the program. They were accompanied by S/Sgt. James R. Golightly and Sgt. John R. Leahy, who will assist the officers in issuing final papers and paying the graduating cadets. The men were flown to Harlingen by Capts. King Mathews and Lawrence White.

The 705th Band will open the ceremonies here with the National Anthem, followed by the invocation given by Chaplain Daniel A. McGuire. Col. E. T. Rundquist, commanding officer, will then introduce Capt. Donald J. McGibbon, who will deliver the commencement address.

Capt. McGibbon was a night fighter pilot in New Guinea and had completed 61 missions in twenty-seven months overseas. His speech will deal principally with his experiences in the South Pacific area.

Capt. William Hale, personnel officer, will announce the names of graduates, while Major Robert J. DuChaine, deputy for training and operations, will present the wings. Capt. Hale will administer the oath of office, and Chaplain Russell M. Hall will pronounce the benediction.

WACs Works

The transfer of our Wac editor, Cpl. Helen Courtney, to Shaw Field, South Carolina has brought a distinct loss to the Freeman Wac Detachment, but true to Army tradition, we shall carry on and try to fill her journalistic shoes.

A newcomer to the field is pretty, dark-haired, dark-eyed Lt. Sciolino, who hails from Buffalo, New York. Lt. Sciolino has recently been transferred from Cochran Field, Georgia, and is assigned here as Assistant Special Service Officer.

While at Cochran she met a former Freemanite, Lt. Susan Ferrigno, who really gave Freeman Field a big build-up. So far, says Lt. Sciolino, it has lived up to every expectation.

Saturday was that long awaited moment, that golden opportunity for eligible young bachelor girls, "Sadie Hawkins Day." Though there were no doubt many who took advantage of the event, it was generally conceded that Pfc. "Dusty" Rhoades won by a photo-finish, with Sgt. "Trudy" Juntunen running a very close second in the race.

Three day pass in hand, and excited look in her eye, Pfc. Carrie Bishop took off for the deep South to meet with her brother, a Major in the Engineer Corps, home after three years in the Pacific, and her Wac sister, home on leave. Another sister is in the same company in France as our ex-Freeman Wac, "Ma" Greene.

Never a day passes in the Wac mess, but we are met by the sight of multi-colored ribbons and stripes of the overseas returnees. The boys have landed, and seem to have the situation well in hand.

Pfc. Charlotte Schwartz, collaborator in absence of this column, took off in an AT-10 for Washington on the first part of a trip to meet her father in New York City. Since their home is in Seattle, we think someone has their geography mixed.

Twin-dad Says

Cloudy today with clearing weather expected tonight. Saturday will be fair and warmer.

Service Club Exhibits Work Of Native Art

An art exhibit, a "Gay Nineties" revue and a juke box dance are the latest attractions offered the Service Club visitor tonight.

The paintings, which were loaned to the Service Club by the art department of Indiana University, will be exhibited on the walls of the club for one week beginning tonight. There are sixteen canvasses in the exhibit, all suitably framed. Each of the oil or water color paintings were created under the Federal Works Project and the work of several famous mid-western artists is included in the group.

Beginning at 8 p. m. the girls of Columbus, Ind., will take the spotlight in the club as they give their ninth performance of a "Gay Nineties" revue. Well costumed and showing definite talent, the amateur group has received numerous requests to appear at army installations in this vicinity. After tonight's performance the group has three more engagements to fill.

After the show dancing will fill out the rest of the evening. Music will be provided by the juke box which had thirteen new records added this week.

705th Band

Ah, Freeman! Too bad Sgt. Bob Meyer and Pfc. Al Stair have to be on furlough. They're missing out on some good deals. Of course the boys were here last week for the band party at Ridgeview. Maybe things will still be happening at good 'ole F. F. when they come back.

This week the band began mess hall concerts once again. The "oldsters" will remember the last year the band made a weekly tour of the mess halls. This will be on the same plan as before.

The camera club is streaking along in its spot of popularity and interesting new members very frequently now.

Monday night, while announcing a program, played for a church group 18 miles from North Vernon, Mr. Chetel arose from his position at the piano and very smoothly announced that yours truly would play a group of two selections on the trumpet. Since we played the cornet, being announced as a trumpeter is a pet peeve of ours. We immediately

Unfortunately, many of these influences are far from being good and their evil, are gradually working their way into our hearts. We can't see this pagan atmosphere all at once. It is like dust. We go about and never notice it. We breathe it in, eat it, and drink it. It is sifted so fine that it doesn't even grit our teeth—but stand still for a moment and there it is, coating your face and hands.

These attitudes are common enough, and the unholy way of life they spawn will go right on eating at the vitals of America until the attitudes change. That's where you come. Start setting good example, start living the kind of life that you're expected to live. If you fall, don't blame it on the Army, blame it on yourself; pick yourself up and go on to live the life which will one day make America a real country worthy of its motto—"In God we trust."

Gift Wrapping Service Begun by NAAFW Unit

The PAC detachment showed this Group what youth and power can do when they steamrolled down our Home gridiron to a 13-0 victory last Saturday. One of our "eleven" vowed that he would resort to checkers from thence. Isn't that correct, Frank?

Sgt. Herb Ryan took the vital step last Wednesday in Seymour. After an extended honeymoon in Pennsylvania, the happy couple are going to take up housekeeping in Seymour.

"Bing" Bingham, our file clerk, isn't satisfied with the type College football played in this part of the country. He has to hop a plane to Louisiana to see them play. I wonder if it was football that he went all the way down there for or are there some other interesting things in that part of the country?

Group 5's Pac Horses will meet their brother Pac Mules of Group 6 next Tuesday for the post touch football championship. The game will be played at 3:30 p. m. on the Helicopter Field behind POR headquarters. The post band will add color to the affair.

Want to fill out your fall and winter wardrobe? Need an extra shirt or pair of trousers?

The Post Exchange has a limited number of enlisted men's O.D. shirts and trousers which they were able fortunately to stock in a recent order. After these are gone reorders will be almost impossible.

Shirts sell for $6.95 and trousers for tan and one-half bucks. Better get up to the PX right away and see for yourself.

Starting lineups for the two teams will be as follows:

The undefeated Pac Horses rode into the finals by virtue of a 13-0 grudge win over C-3 Bearkats last Saturday, while the second place Mules remained in the race for the title by whipping C-1 Flashes by a 7-0 score on Monday.

Game Decides All

The Bearkats-Pac Horses contest decided a scoreless tie played during the regular schedule as well as the first and third place champion, as it was agreed by both teams before the game to stake everything on the outcome.

For 20 minutes, the Bearkats held their vaunted opponents scoreless and fairly well in check, but the lid blew off in the second half as the Pac Horses' offense rolled into high gear.

Fesperman tossed a forward pass from his own 40-yard line to team captain and quarterback Roland Jones, who in turn lateralled to Myers. The Bearkats finally collared the fleet-footed Myers on their own 40-yard marker, but an unnecessary roughness penalty set them back another fifteen yards.

Pac Group 5 Upsets C-3 Pacesetters In Hot Enlisted Men's Bowling Loop

Gen. L. Brereton Cites Importance of Physical Condition

Recent observations by Gen. Louis H. Brereton, commanding general of the Ninth Air Force, which played a vital role in the softening up process preceding the invasion of Europe, place strong emphasis on the importance of physical condition in combat.

While Gen. Brereton's comments pertain to combat crews, comparable standards of physical condition are essential to ground personnel in order that they can adequately support such operations.

Gen. Brereton's observations follow:

"In the tremendous days before invasion, my attention was forcibly directed to how vital it was for Air Force combat crews to be in absolutely top physical condition. During the hard schedule for softening up the continent for invasion, Ninth Air Force men often had to fly from dawn to dusk.

"When the crews were not in the air they were almost constantly on alert awaiting calls for other missions. When D-Day arrived pilots and crews had to respond with even greater effort. Sometimes B-26 Marauder bomber and A-20 Havoc bomber crews were required to participate in three missions in one day and the Thunderbolt, Mustang and Lightning fighter pilots flew three and four and sometimes even five missions in one day.

"I am not able to stress too emphatically how much their superb physical condition made it possible for us to keep hitting the enemy from the air in an endless procession that helped make the invasion a success.

"To the undying and ever-lasting credit of these skilled and physically-keen young men, they performed deeds of valour that have become a glorious part in the military history of the United States of America."

After receiving the kickoff, the Bearkats were forced to punt. Jones gathered in the oval on the Bearkats' 40-yard line and ran it back to the 10-yard stripe before being knocked out of bounds. Feserman drove to the 1-yard line on the succeeding play, but was stopped cold in his next attempt.

At this point the Pac Horses dug deeper into their bag of tricks and came up with a gem that caught the unsuspecting Bearkats completely off guard. Patrizio, faking a perfect buck into the line, gave the ball on a reverse to Jones, who skirted wide around left end to reach pay dirt without a hand touching him. The play was ideally chosen and perfectly

J. Link, whose 179 shared high single game honors with Davis, had 503 for three games. Norman tallied 187, 165, 142 for the Pacs.

With two team members missing, the Pacs dropped a 682-640 decision to the Wacs on Friday, but came through in the second and third games, 748-740, 711-674, as one of the missing men put in a belated appearance.

Post Enlisted, Officer Cagers Clash Tuesday

Sports fans will get their first gander at the post enlisted men's and officers' cage representatives when the two teams clash next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in a practice game in the post gymnasium.

The contest will be the first test of the season for both clubs, who will open their regular schedules Nov. 27 in a doubleheader here with Wakeman General Hospital.

Starting lineups for both teams are problematical, but it is likely both Capt. C. D. Nichols, enlisted men's coach, and Lt. Lewis Hilley, officers' mentor, will rely strongly on seasoned material from last year's lineups.

Veterans of the 1943 enlisted five who have already reported for practice include S/Sgt. Cecil Davis, lanky forward with a sharp eye for the basket; S/Sgt. Al Albright and Sgt. Raymond "Lefty" Wolan, dependable forwards, and Pvt. Ed Gittens, rugged guard.

Bob Maldonado, Frank Marsillo and Bill Powell of last year's edition have not yet turned out for drill, but it is still possible they will return to the fold before the game Tuesday.

Among newcomers to the squad this year are Pac Joe McDonald,

PLM Deals Hangar First Pin Setback

PLM handed Hangar 1 its first setback of the Civilian Men's Bowling League last week, 676-646, but missed an opportunity to take over first place when they were defeated in the first game, 599-576.

Kloss blazed the trail to victory in the second contest with 177, while Pittman of Hangar 1 topped both teams in two games with 331.

Ordnance gained a tie for third by downing Machine Shop in both games of a doubleheader, 607-573, 651-636. W. Nentrup was unable to turn the tide for the losers, although his 180, 177 for two games was high for the league. J. Perko led Ordnance with 162, 149.

AC Supply retained its margin for fifth place by gaining an even break in two games with Sheet Metal. The challengers won the first game, 644-577, but dropped the second, 696-620.

Toppe, of Sheet Metal, had high single game and best two games for both teams with 164, 144. Patrick's 183 was tops for Supply.

The Pac Mules were hard

Section F

Your reporter has just been informed that Cpl. Franklin Better and the lovely Miss Margaret White of D. C., will soon be walking down the aisle together. The date has been set for the 26th of this month. Best of luck to you both.

At last! the G.I. Joes will get a break on all future furloughs—it's said that traveling time will be included.

The Section "F" Ramblers are out to clean up games this season and I am informed that lots of new talent has been discovered for the Ramblers, and we are always open for future games.

From far off India S/Sgt. William Carson writes "this is a nice country but the mosquitoes are so great one would have to sleep inside of a shell in order to escape their music."

The glamour boy, better known as Cpl. Carroll, will have to drop his hype for several days because of a slight sudden illness.

'Tis being circulated that Sgt. Big Bell will entertain the exotic Miss Margareta of Columbus, at the Thanksgiving dinner here on the Post—Well! don't let it strain your purse.

Training Section Steals Lead Tie In Officers' Loop

While attention was focused on the crucial Medic-Post Headquarters series, Training Department quietly slipped in three wins over Section-Heads last week to share leadership of the Ground Officers' Bowling League.

So completely was interest centered in the former series, few realized the Trainers' strategic position until the matches were finished and the results recorded.

Paced by Lt. Kovacic, who tallied 196, 151, 210 for a sizzling 557 three games, the Trainers smothered Section Heads, 727-678, 656-630, 756-691. Big gun for the losers was Maj. Wood, whose three-game 486 included one game of 195.

The triple win elevated Maj. Rogers and staff into a first place tie with previously undefeated Medics, who dropped a 2-1 decision to Post Headquarters.

The Medics-Headquarters fiasco was perhaps the best seen on the local alleys this season. Headquarters copped the second and third games, 796-793, 793-788, after losing the opener, 759-786.

Root of the Medics topped Lt. Kovacic's 557 by one pin for a new three game high for all leagues. Starting with 172, he rolled 200 for high single game all-state Catholic forward with South Catholic High School of Philadelphia in 1943, 1944; Pfc. Charles B. Brown, 10-year veteran of independent wars and captain and playing manager of the Chisholm Newshawks, 1941 Minnesota state champs, and Pfc. Fred Giddings' former Bowdoin College star.

Other new faces include T/Sgt. Martin A. Farraber, Paces William Milburn, William J. Wagner, Lawrence Schwartz and Parker Hicks.

Veterans of last year who will form a nucleus for the officers' team are Capt. John Olson, David Fairbairn and Robert Stainton, Lts. Charles Crimmins, Don Bowers, Harry Bell, Ed Kovacic, Bill Schwarz, Harry Schoenhaus and Warren Olde.

New officer talent includes Maj. Robert DuChaine, Lts. Blake Turner, Clayton Biller, Melvin Lybarger, John Sanford, Richard Epke, L. O. Peterson, Earl Hagen, Tom Broughton, Noel Fischer, John Noel, Herbert Knothe, Burl Campbell, Lawrence Harder, Robert Hines, Dwight Dutcher and P. D. Thompson.

Gen. Butler Commands 6th AF In Canal Zone

Maj. Gen. William O. Butler, former commanding general of EFTC, has been appointed to command the Sixth Air Force, in the Canal Zone.

General Butler has his headquarters at Albrook Field and has been succeeded in command of the Eastern Flying Training command by Brig. Gen. W. S. Gravely.

Esther Williams is a Hollywood beauty who actually swims, as she is a former National Swimming Champ. While on a tour of army camps recently, Esther met a colonel who was wearing both his eagles on one shoulder. When she asked why, the colonel explained that it was the mating season.

Augusta, Me., (CNS) — Ralph E. Mosher, Democratic and Republican candidate for State Senator from Androscoggin County, spent a total of 18 cents in his campaign. He spent three cents for postage, five cents for a telephone call and ten cents for a glass of beer to quench his thirst after a 20-minute talk with a voter.

pressed to protect their 7-0 margin for three quarters as C-1 Flashes fought desperately but muffed each scoring opportunity.

The Flashes' most determined bid came in the waning minutes when they penetrated deep into enemy territory. Duke Woodson, Mules, halfback and individual star of the contest, leaped high into the air to arrest a pass behind his own goal line to end the threat.

Woodson counted the Pac Mules' lone touchdown early in the game after intercepting a C-1 aerial to give his team possession of the ball on the Flashes' 40 yard marker. A series of passes, featuring a quick toss from which stemmed a reverse run and a pair of laterals, advanced the pigskin to the 5-yard line. Here, Woodson scored on a weak side pass from Larry Webb, whose passing for the winners was also outstanding. House's place kick for extra point was good.

Cordial welcome is extended by the pill-rollers to Maj. Douglas Root, who recently came to us from AAF Redistribution Station at Atlantic City. . . Officers and enlisted men of Section E had it out on the bowling alleys on election day; results indicate that the commissioned personnel weren't in terribly good form for the event. . . Gone with the wind are the brave moustaches recently displayed by S/Sgt. Jimmy Labita and Mess Sgt. Bill Baxter: the election returns may have had something to do with the disappearance of the hirsute decorations. . . Latest lucky bird is Cpl. "Frank" Magrann, shipping out for overseas duty; although Frank was with us only a couple of months, he had come to be one of us, and we'll miss him from the convalescent training department, where he was assigned during his stay here.

S/Sgt. "Lucky" Labita treated a small party of friends to a set of steak dinners the other evening; his hospitality sprang from the loss of a coin-matching bout during which the great Player of Percentages seems to have mislaid his famous two-headed four-bit piece.

in the second, finished with 186. Lt. Wozhr led Headquarters with 175, 195, 153.

Warehouse 357 Suffers First Pin League Defeat

PLM scored the biggest upset of the Civilian Mixed Bowling League to date Monday night when they threw lofty Warehouse 357 for its first loss of the campaign, 581-497.

The Warehousemen came back to cop the second game, 647-563, but PLM's success in the first contest was a tremendous shot in the arm for league morale. Kenneth Bowman paced the underdogs with 150, 162, while Dorothea Crane's 149 was high for the favorites.

Supply Office muffed a chance to take undisputed second place by dividing a pair with Warehouse 351, 555-599, 659-490. Pauline Crumme, Warehouse 351, led both teams with 155. Bob Rahal, Supply Office, posted 152.

Marylyn Lubker carded 158 as Hangar 1 made it a triple tie for runnersup honors with two wins over Post Engineers. H. Pfitzenmayer was again high for the leers with 148.
