

Although Ordnance soldiers of the 730th Company, 30th Division, needed their energy to repair broken battle equipment at the height of the German breakthrough, they did not hesitate to give their own blood to wounded comrades. More men from that Ordnance outfit responded to the call for donors than were actually needed.

1945-07-02 730th Ordnance gives blood

Clipped By:

criswest

Sun, Dec 3, 2017